SEPTEMBER 2017

Let's be honest, most of us view Labor Day simply as a nice three-day weekend that falls on the 1st Monday in September. Unlike other national holidays, such as Thanksgiving and The Fourth of July, we do not sit around the table amongst family and friends and discuss the meaning of Labor Day. In actuality, however, there is an argument to be made that Labor Day is America's most important holiday. Labor Day is more than just a day off of work, but rather symbolizes the American People's dedication towards building a better life for ourselves now, and for future generations. Nobody knows more about the hard work it took to build this great country than the residents living here today. So on this Labor Day, we would like to take time here at LEE Center to admire, respect, and give thanks and gratitude to the generations that came before us.

Our next art camp will be September 11th - 14th

With COMPAS artist Charlie Maguire

Charlies proposed project What My Eyes Have Seen is in two parts. The first part is the creation of a totally original song (words & Music) based on the contributions of the group. The second part is the creation of individual works of art in the form of cardboard eyeglasses that are colored and worn based on what each person wants the world to see about themselves. Photographs are taken of each work being worn with interesting and exciting results for client and staff members alike. Some photographs are later worked into a montage by Charlie, which is suitable for display after the residency .

As some of you may have heard, I will be having surgery on September 19th. I'm hoping to be back to work on October 4th. We will still have the Flu Shot clinic on September 20th. It will be in the order that you signed up. Please make sure that we have a copy of your Medicare and insurance card before the day of the clinic.

If you have questions or need help with insurance we will have a volunteer her from Senior Linkage Line on the second Tuesdays of the month. I am training in with this volunteer and she is willing to come help if we need her while I'm out.

I will miss you!!
